Light & Shadow

Light and Shadow of Western Life - A Faithful Picture, by a Resident.

The following curious and highly amusing document, was handed to me by a friend, who desired to see it printed. It is a letter from a gentleman who was employed by a certain firm, and who, signed by CHARLES LOWELL, Esq., of Boston, which was sent to several of the Postmasters in Illinois, in 1850, for the purpose of obtaining information in regard to that country. A copy of this Circular falling by chance into the hands of Mr. Lowell, who returned it to Mr. Lowell with the following answer, given below. Mr. Lowell, we presume, little refused to take the document out of the Post Office, and subsequently presented it to other friends. It has since been much amused with the copies of the Jacksonville Whig. They contain the most judicious burlesque on Western life that we have ever seen.

Lowell, (Mr.), D. C., 1850.

Dear Sir: - A number of individuals in the vicinity of Jacksonville, Illinois, have been writing to me, and asking me to send them a copy of the letter from the Postmaster General, which you have been so good as to send me. I have been so good as to send them a copy of the letter from the Postmaster General, which you have been so good as to send me.

JACKSONVILLE, Illinois, January, 1850.

Dear Sir: - You have been so good as to send me a copy of the letter from the Postmaster General, which you have been so good as to send me. I have been so good as to send them a copy of the letter from the Postmaster General, which you have been so good as to send me.
